PRESS RELEASE

AMS 360 Integration Now Available for AccuraImage Users

Woodstock, Illinois, March 6, 2007- Lumtron Technologies, Inc., a leading provider of document management solutions announced today that integration between its flagship document management product, AccuraImage, and the AMS 360 agency management system from AMS Services.

This seamless integration allows scanned documents, unstructured data, and other electronically-stored files which are stored and managed in AccuraImage to be linked directly to client, policy, submission, and/or claim records within the AMS 360 product. Utilizing multiple technologies to non-invasively gather data from a host application, Lumtron's sophisticated integration engine then uses the gathered data elements as indices to link the documents to the appropriate record within the host application. AMS 360 users are then able to retrieve documents with a single click, and without ever leaving their AMS 360 screen.

"Our AccuraImage software was perfectly integrated with our AMS for Windows agency management system and we loved it," states Kathy Ireland, Operations Manager of Rossman-Hurt-Hoffman, Inc., located in Ellicott City, MD. "So when we upgraded to the new AMS 360 product," she explains, "we naturally turned to Lumtron to modify the integration bridge to accommodate the new system." Ireland continues, "During our migration to AMS 360, Lumtron's support team actually allowed me to call them on a Saturday and Sunday when we were trying to get everything integrated and ready for the employees when they returned on Monday morning. I've never seen another vendor do that."

Paul Fotis, Vice President of Lumtron Technologies added, "As a leading provider of document management solutions to the insurance industry, we need to be responsive to our clients' needs. A critical part of this responsiveness includes making integration available for new management system versions as the vendors release them. For many years, we have provided a seamless integration with the previous AMS management systems; this latest enhancement – which is provided to our users at no cost – is just a continuation of that commitment."

"Lumtron's support has always been very helpful, responsive, and respectful of our needs and time." Ireland states, "and this process was no exception." She concludes by adding, "AccuraImage and AMS 360 integrate perfectly. We are extremely pleased."
